

GINOOGAMING FIRST NATION

In recent years Ginoogaming First Nation has found itself amidst a significant amount of mineral development activity. GFN will experience both direct and indirect impacts from these potential developments in the years to come. In response, GFN is preparing for developments on a number of fronts, taking important steps to develop the processes and protocols, as well as carry out the projects required for the First Nation to fully participate in these mineral developments and take advantage of the opportunities that are to come.
